

First Day of School – Stations Activity

Note to the Teacher:

Thanks so much for downloading these materials! This activity is designed to get students out of their seats on the first day of school as they get to know you, meet a few classmates, and clarify what they need to do to have a great year in your class.

Pages #2-22 are designed to be projected for the class to see on the board. (Every PDF reader has a “slideshow” or “view full screen” mode. If you’ve never projected from a PDF before, just search YouTube for the name of your PDF reader software and “full screen mode” to learn how to do this. Or, even better, just ask a teenager for help and you’ll be up and running in a few seconds.)

Pages #24-39 are designed to be printed and posted around your classroom before students arrive. If available, print these pages on colored paper which will help them stand out and visually guide students to the next station during the rotation rounds.

Page #40 is an optional worksheet for students to complete after the stations activity is concluded or as homework. Print one per student and use whenever it best fits into your lesson plan.

First, get eight sticky notes.
Then, number your sticky notes

#1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8

Keep the #s small

5

7

8

On the next slide, you'll see eight sentences for you to complete.

Finish sentence #1 on sticky note #1

Finish sentence #2 on sticky note #2

Finish sentence #3 on sticky note #3

And so on...

Get it?

Do NOT write my sentence starter.

Just finish each sentence
on the corresponding sticky note.

1. I want to earn my high school diploma because _____.
2. The most effective teachers are the ones who _____.
3. The most helpful classmates are the ones who _____.
4. One of my strengths in this subject area is _____.
5. One of my weaknesses in this subject area is _____.
6. To read and really understand a challenging text, I need _____.
7. To produce my best work, I need _____.
8. By the end of the year, I plan to achieve the following goal: _____.

Now that the sticky notes are
complete, count off
1-2-3-4-5-6-7-8
to form eight groups.

Now that the sticky notes are
complete, count off
1-2-3-4-5-6-7-8
to form eight groups.

Join your group at the matching station.

Team #1 starts at Sentence #1.

Team #2 starts at Sentence #2.

Team #3 starts at Sentence #3.

And so on...

Introduce yourself to your teammates.

Introduce yourself to your teammates.

At the station, discuss your answer with your teammates. Ask each other questions about why those answers were chosen. When finished, post all of your sticky notes on the wall near the sentence starter.

You'll have two minutes before moving to the next station.

BEGIN!

(A station rotation will be announced every two minutes until you've cycled through all eight sentences.)

You should now be back at your original station.

What a mess of sticky notes!

Organize the notes into similar themes or ideas.

(Example: If eight people said they want to earn their diploma because they want to get a decent job, group those answers together. If six people said they didn't want to disappoint their families, group those answers together. And so on...)

Let's discuss.

What were the three most common responses used to finish your team's sentence starter?

Team #1

I want to earn my high school diploma
because _____.

Team #2

The most effective teachers are the ones who _____.

Team #3

The most helpful classmates are the ones who _____.

Team #4

One of my strengths in this subject area is _____.

Team #5

One of my weaknesses in this subject area is _____.

Team #6

To read and really understand a
challenging text,
I need _____.

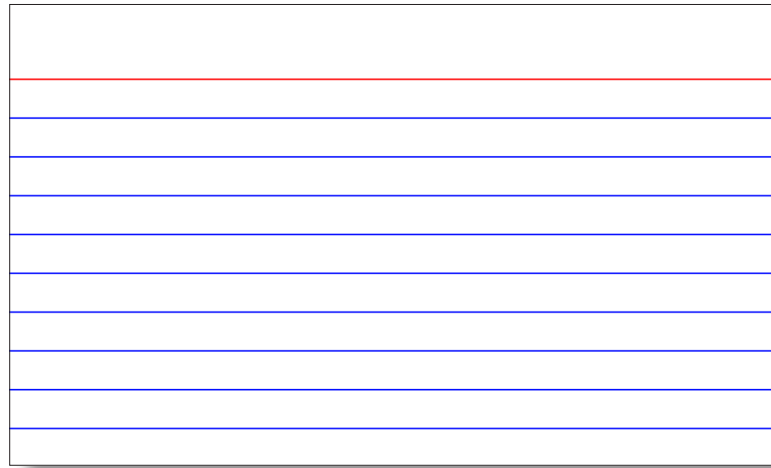

Team #7

To produce
my best work,
I need _____.

Team #8

By the end of the year,
I plan to achieve the
following goal: _____.

Finally, send a member
of your team to get an index card from me.

As a team, decide the single most important thing for me, your teacher, to remember
about today's discussion.

On the index card,
finish this sentence:

The most important thing
to remember about today's discussion is: _____.

(Again, no need to write my sentence starter.
Just finish the sentence on the card.)

End of presentation

The following pages (p. 24 to 39) are intended to be printed and posted around the classroom before students arrive.
